This is a village house completely renovated by professional craftsmen that offers a mixture of rural character with the comforts of a modern house. The house has three floors, with a total of 350m² habitable. Its position in the chamfer of the street has allowed to separate a main house on the second and third floor, while the lower floor offers an independent apartment, with a modern kitchen, a small living room and a double bedroom with en suite. The main house has three double bedrooms, one with shower and sink, two full bathrooms, two large rooms, one with dining room, and a modern kitchen with fridge/freezer, integrated microwave, integrated oven, induction hob and oven with extractor and dishwasher. The ground floor was originally the place for animals and storage but has been transformed into a unique apartment full of character, with wooden beams and original stone walls. It has a kitchen/diner with gas cooker, fridge and microwave, and has a double glazed glass door that opens onto a Juliet balcony with magnificent views of the mountains.
